F. HYBRID PETUNIAS F. HYBRID

What are they? F. Hybrid Petunia seed is produced from a cross of two specially bred parents, both of which impart various qualities to the cross—together, they impart a special sort of vigor known as "heterosis."

What are their advantages?

1. Greater uniformity. The controlled cross of well-fixed parents permits only slight variations, usually unnoticeable—no "rogues."
2. Greater vigor. Fast, strong growth combined with ideal, compact plant habit in most varieties is the greatest single advantage of F. Hybrids.
3. Brighter, clearer, more uniform colors. It's difficult to measure this—you notice it when making comparisons with inbreds.

Watch for the F. Hybrid symbol—Your guide to better Petunia varieties!

PETUNIA, FIRE DANCE

All-America Selections winner for 1956. Fire Dance combines a deep bright red of the favorite, Tango, with a brightly contrasting golden yellow throat which is most appealing. An F. Hybrid.

PETUNIA, WHITE MAGIC

This new F. Hybrid white is the earliest and most free flowering white we have seen, and yet it retains a very neat, dwarf habit.

PETUNIA, CRUSADER

F. Hybrid rose and white striped. Ht., 11 in.

PETUNIA, POPCORN

A new, extra dwarf and compact strain—largest flowered of all whites. Ht., 10 in.
An inbred variety.

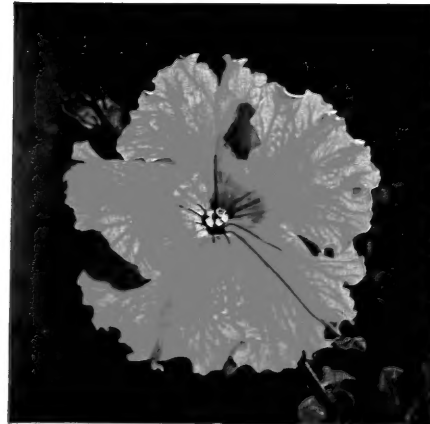

PETUNIA, LINDA

A soft salmon-pink F. Hybrid. Ht., 9 in.

BALL ALL-DOUBLE PETUNIAS

Ball All-Double Mixture contains all the above colors in a good balance. Or ask for separate colors, named in the diagram at left.

PETUNIA, PRIMA DONNA

All-America Award Winner for 1955. Heavily ruffled, bright rose, F. Hybrid similar to Ballerina except for color. Ht., 10 in.

PETUNIA, TANGO

F. Hybrid. Ht. 10 in.

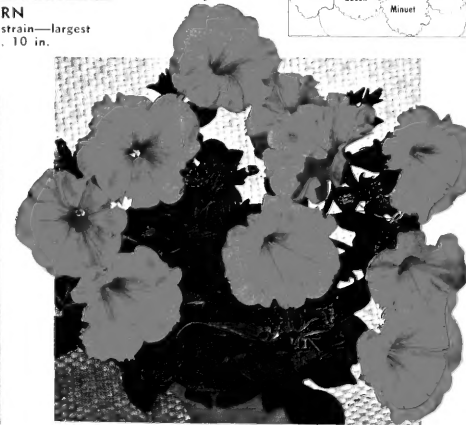

PETUNIA, ROSE CHARM

An F. Hybrid deep rose. Ideal for bedding. Ht., 12 in.

PETUNIA, PINK SENSATION

An F. Hybrid. An especially free flowering pink. Ht., 15 in.

PETUNIA, COMANCHE

A new, bright red F. Hybrid, known best for its bright color and vigorous growth. Ht., 13 in.
